

I grant permission to the Hoover Presidential Foundation to use and publish selected information related to marketing and advertising for the Foundation.

This may include my name; institutional affiliation or current position; and if applicable, it may include my academic institution or, if I am an independent researcher, my city and state of residence; my research title and a general description of my project; and the amount of funding awarded.

I further grant permission to the Foundation to use photographs, video, or audio recordings of me, if interviewed, as well as any images I voluntarily provide or allow taken, for purposes including but not limited to press releases, websites, social media, newsletters, annual reports, donor communications, and other marketing or educational materials.

I acknowledge that when I submit my application this release is in effect and that no compensation will be provided for such use, and that these materials may be used in perpetuity.
